
The 17th European Researchers' Night at CNIC: A look back

28/09/2026

The CNIC organised five events open to the public of all ages to celebrate the 17th European Researchers' Night

To mark the 17th European Researchers' Night in Madrid, the Spanish National Centre for Cardiovascular Research (CNIC) organised five activities aimed at children and adults, during which participants had the opportunity to gain a first-hand insight into the research carried out at the centre.

European Researchers' Night is an opportunity to delve into the exciting world of science and innovation. From amazing experiments to inspiring talks, the CNIC offers a glimpse into the latest discoveries and the wonders of technology.

Take a look at the photos from the event in this album.

We look forward to seeing you next year!
